

Text Descriptions for Finale SongWriter

April 2012

Finale SongWriter® described in 65 words:

When you notate your music by hand, changing the key or adding an intro means starting over. With SongWriter, your music comes alive. It's easy to change keys, add measures, and move things as your creativity moves you. The results play back and can be shared as iPod-ready .MP3 files. Best of all, you create beautiful sheet music, resulting in more respect AND better performances.

Finale SongWriter® described in 100 words:

Still using a pencil? When you notate your music by hand, changing the key or adding an intro means starting over. With SongWriter your music comes alive. It's easy to change keys, add measures, and move things around any way your creative impulses move you. Music in SongWriter plays back, giving you instant feedback. Expand your melody with Band-in-a-Box Auto-Harmonizing, and use Drum Groove to complete the backup band. Best of all, you can share your music as iPod-ready .MP3 files or beautiful sheet music—and with engraver-quality music, you not only get more respect, you also get better performances.
